

January 1, 2014

Dear Customer,

AMG Superalloys UK is committed to achieving the highest standards of conduct with respect to its production of materials for its customers.

Specifically, AMG Superalloys UK supports human rights standards by living these values in our interactions with local and national governments, and the communities in which we operate, and we endeavor to extend our values and principles to our suppliers and contractors.

AMG Superalloys UK is aware of activities involving exploitation of natural resources that contribute to human rights violations in Central Africa specifically some parts of Democratic Republic of Congo and adjoining countries.

Therefore AMG Superalloys UK hereby establishes the following policy and procedure related to raw materials procurement:

AMG Superalloys UK does not knowingly purchase any materials such as gold, coltan, cassiterite, wolframite, and their derivatives such as tantalum, niobium, tin, or tungsten which originate from conflict areas in Central Africa, and acts diligently to uphold this policy.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you require more information.

Sincerely,

Julien Crisnaire
President
AMG Superalloys UK

Kevin Lawson
Managing Director
AMG Superalloys UK